TEXT OF SUPREME COURT DECISION

END OF CONTROVERSY

Members of City Council are not municipal officers according to the decision of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia which was handed down in the Barrett-Lambert contested council case. This brings to an end a long disputed question which has been under consideration a number of times by the Virginia courts.

The full text of the decision as rendered by Judge Buchanan is as follows:

This is a quo warranto proceeding in which it was determined that the defendant in error, Robert S. Barrett, and not the plaintiff in error Urban S. Lambert, was entitled to the office of member of the common council from the first ward of the city of Alexandria, made vacant by the death of Hubert Snowden, who was elected a member of the common council at the regular election held on the second Tuesday in June, 1910.

On the 23rd day of April, 1912, the common council, acting under section 1015e of the Code of 1904, elected Mr. Lambert to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Snowden. At the general election in June following Mr. Barrett was elected by the qualified voters of the city to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Snowden, in accordance with an act of Assembly approved February 17, 1906. Acts of Assembly 1906, pp. 17-18.

The contention of the defendant in error is, and the trial court so held, that section 1015e of the Code was repealed by the act of February 17, 1906, and that the vacancy was to be filled in the manner prescribed by the latter statute.

By section 1015e of the Code it is provided, that "When any vacancy shall occur in the council of a city having one branch, or in either branch of the council of any city having two branches, by death, resignation, removal from the ward, failure to qualify, or from any other cause, the council, or the branch, as the case may be, in which such vacancy occurs, shall elect a qualified person to supply the vacancy for the unexpired term."

"An Act to authorize the several cities and towns of this Commonwealth to appoint officers and employees in addition to those expressly authorized in their respective charters and provide for the filling of vacancies in all municipal offices for the unexpired term.

"1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia, That the council of every city or town of this Commonwealth having in their several charters the power to appoint certain municipal officers shall, in addition to such power, have power to appoint such othero fficers and employes as the council may deem proper or any committee of such council, or any municipal board, or the mayor of the city or town, or any head of a department of such city or town government, may also appoint such officers and employes as the council may determine, the duties and compensation of which officers and employes shall be fixed by the council of the city or town, except so far as the council may authorize such duties to be fixed by such committee or other appointing power, and may require of any of the officers and employes so appointed bonds, with sureties in proper penalties, payable to the city or town in its corporate name, with condition for the faithful performance of said duties. All officers so appointed may be removed from office at their pleasure by joint resolution of the two branches, and where the appointment is by

For the second time within a few weeks a hunting dog, Barney, saved the life of Violet Haveman, three years old at Cadillac, Mich. The child was playing between the rails of the G. R. and I. road, back of her home, with her dolls, and did not hear the approaching train and would have been ground to pieces had not the dog rushed to the child, grabbed her in his teeth and dragged her to the door of the Haveman home, fifty feet away.

The Atlantic waters which have been allowed to run slowly against the lower gates at Gatun reached sea level yesterday afternoon. The large gates are being put to the actual test of full pressure for the first time. The engineers are watching the rise of the water with interest, and they report that the gates are water tight. The water is at the 50-foot stage.

Attorney General McReynolds late yesterday retained Thomas E. Hayden, former president of the San Francisco board of education, as one of the counsel for the government in the prosecution of the Diggs-Caminetti and Western Fuel cases.

A fight to the death in the dark between two women nurses is believed to have preceded the finding yesterday of their bodies in a room of a branch of the Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids at Bedford Hills, Westchester county, N Y.

Salisbury, Md., yesterday received its second shock since the death, on June 20, of Miss Florence Wainwright, who was found dead in the office of the Home Gas Company, where she was bookkeeper, when it was rumored that several men, all prominent in the financial and social of this comtpny, might be called upon to explain their alleged close friendship with the young woman. Although no names have been mentioned publicly, it is possible interesting revelations may be made along that line before the solution of the mysterious tragedy is found.

A well dressed man, about 40 years old, who had described himself as Henry J. Ammon, of 408 East 96th street, Boston, Killed himself yesterday in a room he had rented for 24 hours from Mrs. N. J. Ayres, 104 C. street, Washington. Ammon cut his throat with a raor after breaking the gas jet in his room, so that in case he did not bleed to death the gas would kill him.

In an anti-American meeting yesterday at Tokyo, Japan, a resolution was adopted declaring the Japanese cabinet had failed in settling the California question, and that the time had arrived for the people to assume a more determined attitude and extend the national prestige.

The fifth day of severe heat has brought the death toll of this hot spell in Chicago to above 40. Ten deaths were reported yesterday and there were hundreds of prostrations, taxting the capacity of public and private hospitals.

A dispatch from Lexington, S. C., brings the news of a horrible tragedy, in which Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs and their four children were burned to death. Some farmers in the neighborhood argued their suspicions of foul play and others igve the opinion that the home had been demolished by lightning during a storm shortly after midnight and the entire family annihilated.

At the Second Presbyterian Church last night George W. Crabtree, of Washington, D. C., a prison evangelist, delivered an address on the subject: "What Christ Has Done For Us."

TWENTY SPECIAL TRAINS ARRIVE

Federal and Confederate Veterans Pouring Into Gettysburg.

DEATHS DUE TO HEAT.

Twenty Thousand Veterans Sleep on Historic Battlefield Last Night After Brief Services.

Battlefield, Gettysburg, Pa., June 30.—The sun rose over Seminary Ridge this morning to find 200 rejuvenated veterans from Washington already astir, refreshed by the first night's sleep under canvass that many of them had not experienced since the days of he civil war.

Camped on the eastern top of Seminary Ridge in an old apple orchard that affords a grateful shade at midday, they occupy one of the choicest spots on the grounds.

With the exception of a brief service in the chapel there were no exercises in camp last night and most of the 20,000 veterans crawled between their blankets.

Twenty special trains unloaded 11,000 old soldiers here yesterday, and these were welcomed by the members of the Pennsylvania G. A. R., who had their encampment here Friday and Saturday.

Two deats and a dozen heate prostrations marred the first day in camp.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER.

Mrs. Nellie V. Ramey Says News Publishing Company is Insolvent.

Mrs. Nellie V. Ramey, who holds $12,000 out of the capital stock of $25,000 of the News Publishing Co., through her attorney, Edmund Burke, of Washington, today filed a petition in Corporation Court for a receiver for the News Publishing Company. in the suit are also included Carroll Pierce, acting as president of the corporation, M. L. Dinwiddie, acting as secretary, treasurer and general manger and following alleged stockholders: Robert E. Knight, Lewis H. Machen, George D. Hopkins, Louis N Duffey, H. Noel Garner, Robert S. Jones, James M. Duncan, Harry Wade, W. A. Smoot, Jr., and also A. S. Doniphan and C. S. Taylor Burke, who are alleged to have been former stockholders.

Mrs. Ramey's petition goes fully into the management of affairs of the company which she declares is insolvent and going deeper and deeper into debt every day. The sensational charge is made that the management and control of the company had been virtually turned over by the directors to M. L. Dinwiddie, and "that Dinwiddie with the knowledge at the direction and with the connivance of said majority of stockholders has conspired to deprive your complainant, (Mrs. Ramey) of all her stock and interest" in the company by permitting it to become financially embarrassed so that a sale of its assets would be necessary with the ultimate purpose of buying in the property at a forced sale.

According to the allegations and exhibits in the case Albert D. Brockett, a member of City Council engineered the deal for the purchase of the majority of the stock of the News Publishing Co., from Mrs. Ramey and was the go-between in all the negotiations between Mrs. Ramey and the other stockholders.

Among the allegations made by Mrs. Ramey is that the circulation of the paper has fallen off over 50 per cent; that the debts now amount to $4,450 and that the policy of personal criticism has caused the loss of considerable business.

A receiver is asked for and the present stockholders named in the bill are asked to be enjoined from selling or disposing of their stock and it is also asked that they pay into the treasury of the company certain sums of money which it is alleged they still owe.

FINED TWENTY DOLLARS EACH.

Most of the time of the police court this morning was consumed in attemps to unravel two rows among negroes, one of which occurred last Tuesday night in the Western section of the city, and another on Friday night in which the same parties figured. During the first affray Jno. Quill was struck on the head by a brick thrown by an unknown man, while Lawrence Baker alleged that Herman Wesley cut at him.

On Friday night the same darkies were in a saloon in the northeast section of the city when Baker, Deacon Johnson and Abe Knight who, it is alleged, came prepared for a battle, ran Wesley Watkins, Herman Jackson and Bertine Broaders away from the saloon and outside the city limits, during which it was said that about twenty shots were discharged and many rocks hurled at the fugitives. Baker was arrested Saturday by the police, but they have been unable to locate the others.

Baker was fined $20 for carrying a pistol. Several others, including those shot at, were charged with disorderly conduct, but they were dismissed for want of evidence.

Alfred Mason, colored, was also arraigned on the charge of carrying a pistol. He was fined $20.

The provision that sugar shall go on the free list March 1, 1916, is unchanged.

The committee adopted an amendment to put a stamp tax on all cotton sold for future deliveries. It declined to reconsider its decisions imposing the full internal revenue duty on brandies used to fortify sweet wines and disposed of several other matters referred to by the caucus.

The caucus was again in session at 10:30 this morning, and is expected to make progress on the consideration of the administrative and income tax sections of the bill.

PARCELS POST.

New C. O. D. Feature Will Benefit Alexandria Trade.

Merchants of Alexandria should inform themselves of the provisions of the new C. O. D. feature of the parcels post which will enable them to sell goods by mail and deliver the articles by parcels post making collections for the goods purchased through the carrier delivering the parcels.

This order of the Posmaser General becomes effective next Tuesday, and will open up some splendid prospects for local merchants in the dry goods line, the food supply stores gents' furnishing stores, confectioners, shoe stores and for any merchant handling small articles in hardware and other goods which come within the weight and size limit of the parcels post law.

Contained within the 50 mile zone there is a sufficient population to afford the merchants of this city an exceptional field in which to advertise and sell their goods by mail, making deliveries by the parcels post and collections through the C. O. D. feature which will cost them but 10 cents a package including insurance for the package mailed.

Merchants of this city will doubtless investigate this and endeavor to take all possible advantage of the new feature to increase their business.

The building, which is leased by the Government, contains the various exhibits of the several departmens which are shipped to expositions in all parts of the world.

Some months ago it was announced that the Alexandria Warehouse would be abandoned and the exhibits moved to Washington, but a petition was presented to the Department by Congressman Charles C. Carlin, with the result that it has been decided to retain the exhibits in Alexandria.

CARDINALS 10, MEDICOS 4.

The fans that witnessed the Cardinal A. C., defeat the Medicos Saturday were given a treat in the baseball line. The Medicos played a good game with the exception of their first baseman who displayed a variety of laziness never before equaled.

White and Bender, who assayed to do the honors for the Medicos held their end up in great style. Whites curves being all that could be desired while Benders pegging was of great value to his team.

"Bow" Cox, the Cardinals string bean artist again demnstrated to the fans that he is some twirler fanning 12 men and allowing only 8 hits which was widely scattered.

The final score was Cardinals 10 Medicos 4.

HOUSE IS TO PROBE MULHALL CHARGES

MEMBERS ACCUSED.

Washington, June 30.—An executive meeting of the Senate lobby committee was called this morning for the purpose of considering the sensational charges made by Martin W. Mulhall, for ten years field agent and lobbyist of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Indications are the dragnet will be thrown out far and wide, that scores of the members of Congress will be called in, and that weeks will be taken by the lobby committee to probe Mulhall's allegations.

Not only this, but demand for an investigation will be made in the House, and two investigations, one by the House and one by the Senate, are likely at the same time.

Just before the meeting today, Senator Overman announced the committee had already subpoenaed Mulhall to appear before them when the committee again takes up its sittings July 9, and that after the executive session further subpoenaes for "every witness already connected with Mulhall's narrative" would be issued. John Kirby, Jr., president and guiding light of the National Association of Manufacturers, mentioned repeatedly by Mulhall, is to be among the first witnesses called.

When the subpoenaes are issued today by the committee, they will contain the names of men long in public life, many of whom are household words, all accused by Mulhall, of having been chief instruments of the American Manufacturers' Association in getting their particular legislative "pets" through Congress. The Senators and Representatives whom Mulhall said "the association had no difficulty in reaching and influencing," number some of the most prominent men in the country, and lesser lights, notably former members of the House, who, Mulhall says, had their campaigns financed by the association, stretch from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Overman said he expected to receive all the documents which Mulhall asserts support his chargets.

COOLER WEATHER COMING.

Bureau Forecasts Breaking of the Hot Wave.

An end is in sight for the hot wave that has held sway over the Central States for several days. In its weekly bulletin last night the Weather Bureau predicted that the extreme heat would be broken in the Plains States Monday or Tuesday, and that a cool wave then would move slowly eastward. The forecast says:

"The distribution of atmospheric pressure over the North American Continent and the adjacent oceans is such as to indicate a break in the hot wave over the Plains States Monday and Tuesday and the Mississippi Valley and Upper Lake Region Tuesday or Wednesday, followed by moderate temperatures in these districts during several days.

"East of the Mississippi River warm weather will prevail during the first half of the coming week, followed by moderate temperature after Wednesday or Thursday. Over the Rocky Mountain Region and on the Pacific Slope temperatures will average below the normal.

"The rainfall during the week will be generally light and local. A disturbance that now covers the Plain States will advance slowly eastward attended by local thunder showers and cross the Great Central Valleys about Tuesday and the Eastern States Thursday."

ANOTHER NORFOLK LINE.

Formation of Two Steamship Companies For New York and Southern Trade

The formation of two steamship companies which, operating together, will connect Washington and New York, is believed to be in process of completion.

New York financiers, according to statements now being made, purposes to purchase the line now operated by the Potomac and Chesapeake Steamship Company in the Potomac river transportation business, and forming a new company will operate boats between Norfolk and New York as well as with southern ports.

Plans are now in process of completion, it has become known, by which the newly organized $15,000,000 New York, Norfolk and Washington Steamship Company, incorporated recenly under the laws of Maine, will establish a line from Washington to New York, and evenually pu on a more efficient service than now between the national capital and all the principal ports of the south.

This will open a direct line which cannot now be had.

Although the new corporation, which hopes to reach Washington through the medium of the Potomac and Chesapeake Steamship Company, has had an acceptance of its offer to take over this line, Colin H. Livingstone, president of the steamship line, vice president of the American National Bank, and a director of the Hudson River Navigation Company, declares that the proposition made by the New York, Norfolk and Washington Company, was not only definite, but attractive. It is understood that the offer will be accepted Mr. Livingstone controls the Potomac and Chesapeake.

The Potomac and Chesapeake Company yoperates four boats from Washington to the foot of the Potomac, but does not now enter Norfolk. It exchanges its freight for this point with the Norfolk and Washington Steamship Company, which, with the exception of Alexandria, does not stop between Washington and Norfolk. The Norfolk and Washington Company, in return, exchanges its freight for points along the river with hthe Potomac and Chesapeake. If the pending negotiations are successfully carried through, the new company will operate in direct competition with the Norfolk and Washington line.

After a line is secured from New York to Norfolk entry will undoubtedly be made to the National Capital via the P. and C., which will probably be extended the other third of the way to Norfolk, running direct, and local steamers between the two ports. Lines will thenbe secured from Norfolk south, it being the object of the concern to enter New Orleans, it is understood. The competition between the lines from Washington to Norfolk may result in the lowering of the rates between the two ports, and will afford excellent and direct shipping facilities from Washington, Alexandria, to New York and the South, under the control of one corporation.

There was immediate response and almost in as short time as it takes to tell it several other gasoline boats had come close to the burning boat, smoke from which was coming out of the cabin windows. The females were brought ashore, after which the flames were extinguished with sand. Later the damaged boat was towed back to Washington and the women went to that city on an electric train.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

INDIGNANT AUTOISTS.

The autoists of the District of Columbia are expressing their opinions of Governor Mann of Virginia over his refusal to enter into reciprocal arrangements with the District of Columbia in regard to automobile licenses.

A number of automobile owners residing in Washington referring to the Governor's letter to the Alexandria Automobile Club in which the Virginia executive stated that the thousands of automobiles in Washington would profit more from reciprocal relations in the matter of auto licenses than would the few hundred owners of autoniobiles in the city of Alexandria and counties contiguous to he District expressed the belief that Governor Mann probably meant well but was very much misinformed as to actual conditions.

One Washingtonian said: "Who would want to leave the fine roads and streets of the District for the many dirt roads found in the state of Virginia? especially when the District license cost us but $2.00 which is good for all time, while for the privilege of entering the state of Virginia we must pay from $10.00 to $15.00 per year for a special license."

Under the present law, the Virginia owner of an automobile must pay the District the same sum it cost him in Virginia for a license, which would be from ten to fifeen dollars, should he desire to enter the district.

Under present arrangements the auto owners of Alexandria and nearby counties are practically prohibited from enjoying the full privileges of using the highways of the District unless they pay an excessive license, say for the privilege.

FOUR AERO FATALITIES.

Liége, Belgium, June 30.—While an aviator, Parisot, was giving an exhibition flight at a village near here yesterday, the wing of the aeroplane struck and killed a youthful spectator. The machine capsized, burying Perisot in the wreckage. The aviator died a few minutes later.

The aeroplane also struck and killed a child and seriously injured three other spectators.

London, June 30.— An aviator named Wight was killed by a fall near Brighton yesterday evening. His machinery suddenly burst into flame and dropped to the ground. Wight was pinned beneath it.

St. Louis , Mo., June 30.—William Bleakley, aviator, and Henry Broeker,, city councilman, of St. Charles, Mo., Fell 400 feet with a hydroaeroplane into the Missouri river, near St. Charles, yesterday during the regatta of the St. Charles Boating Association. CHOKED BY HIS OWN TONGUE.

Philadelphia, Pa. June 30.—Choked by his own tongue, Charles Arioso, 25 years old, of No. 8123 Mingo Ave., was found dead in bed yesterday morning by his sister, Mrs. Anna Mario. According to information secured by the 32nd district police, who investigated the case Arioso had been subject to fits. Yesterday morning when his sister went to his room to awake him, she found him unconscious, his mouth peculiarly distorted.

Mrs. Mario summoned Dr. McCormick, of Island Road and Tinicum Avenue, who upon examining the body found him dead. A closer examination disclosed the fact that his tongue had become lodged in his throat, thereby choking him to death.

JOHNSON SAILS FOR RUSSIA.

Negro Pugilist Escorted to Ship by Canadian Officials.

Montreal, June 30.—Jack Johnson sailed yesterday by the steamship Corinthian for Havre. He was escorted to the ship with his wife shortly after midnight by Inspector Cowan and instructions were given to the ships officers to notify the Quebec police if Johnson attempted to land there. The Quebec police were instructed to arrest Johnson if he stopped at Quebec.

Previously Johnson had appeared before the immigration officials and made a statement under oath that he left Chicago without any disguise, that he was asked no questions either by immigration or railway officials at any point, he was going to Russia for two fights and that he would return o Chicago by way of Canada to surrender to his bail.

Asked how he expected to enter Russia in view of his court record, he replied that it was ll fixed. He also stated that before he got into trouble on the white slave law charge he had $138,000 and that the lawyers had got most of this and that he was compelled to go abroad because he needed the money.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Circumstantial Case Made Out at Magistrate's Hearing.

Staunton, Va., June 30.—Charles Donaghe, charged with the murder of his aged sister, Rebecca Danghe, near Parnassus, on the third instant, was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrates J. M. H. Randolph and J. T. Ewing and ordered held for the grand jury.

MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE.

Charles City, Va., June 20.—Newell Walker, was Saturday afternoon adjudged guilty of murder in the first degree for killing his young wife, which means that he will expiate his crime in the electric chair at the State penitentiary.

The jury was out one hour and thirty minutes. The condemned man was visibly affected by the jury's verdict.

From the opening of the case it was clear that the Commonwealth had a mass of evidence to strengthen its plea that Walker was guilty of taking the life of his young wife, and efforts of the attorneys for the defendant to break down the Commonwealth's case failed at every point.

Large Yield of Potatoes.

Onancock, Va., June 30.—In spite of the frost on May 20, the yield of Irish potatoes is the largest ever konwn. The number of well-developed potatoes and the small number of culls is generally remarked upon George Budd, of Melfa, reports an average yield of 42 barrels to the barrel planted. The Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company took 5,000 barrels from Concord Tuesda, and 3,000 barrels from Onancock Wednesday. The prices were fairly good.

London—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst's medical attendant Dr. Flora Murray, addressing the suffragettes, explained the speedy release of imprisoned suffrgaettes as due to the adoption of a water strike.

SHOOTING IN ROANOKE.

Augustus Kahn Alleged to Have Been Shot by Lewis Simon

Roanoke, Va., June 30.—Augustus Kahn, a salesman for Schlossberg, pawnbrokers ,is at the Roanoke Hospital suffering from a pistol bullet wound in his groin, and Lewis Simon, manager of the United States Shoe Repairing Company, is in the city jail, charged with having inflicted the wound

The shotoing occurred in the store of Schlossberg Brothers.

According to the best information obtainable, Simon's brother interested in a company which operates shoe repairing plants in Roanoke, Norfolk and portsmouth, was in Roanoke a day or two ago and did not appear to be pleased with the conduct of affairs at the Roanoke shop. It is intimated that Kahn gave information to the visiting Simon that was not wholly favorable to Lewis Simon's conduct here, and that the shooting grew out of the words between Simon and Kahn in this connection.

ALMOST A PANIC.

Norfolk, Va., June 30.—Because he came near causing a panic in church while religious services were being held, S. Richards, a marine, has been sentenced to jail for thirty days by Magistrate Smith, of South Carolina.

Richards entered the Pentecostal Holiness Church yesterday while the place was filled with worshippers. He was intoxicated and became disorderly. When one of the deacons commaded him to leave the church he took a bottle of whiskey from his pocket and broke it on the floor. The congregation thought there would be further trouble, and a number rushed for the door.

J. M. Hollowell, a deacon went for the police and, deputy sheriff I. D. Rawls arrested the man.

Brown went to his home nearby, got his pistol and, while two companions kept the crowd back, shot Baker through the temple.

The Truth About
Electric Cooking
For large families where the average domestic help is employed and a large amount of cooking done, Electric Cooking will be found more expensive, and in most cases not advisable.
In small families, where no help is employed, and where nice equipment is desired, Electric cooking will be found many times more convenient, more certain in results and safer in operation—as well as reasonable in cost.
In every family a few utensils for early breakfast emergency and special uses—and for cheering up cold meals with a warm dish or two—is highly advisable from every standpoint, including that of economy.

PROPOSED NEW STEAMER LINE.

The announcement is made to the effect that plans are being perfected for the establishment of another line of steamers between Washington, Alexandria, Norfolk and New York. Two years ago an attempt was made to inaugurate another line between here and Nortolk and the promoters went so far as to prepare the wharf at the foot of Prince street for the accommodation of the steamer, Frank Jones, which, it is was announced, was to be brought here from New York. The new line, however, did not crystalie.

According to the plan announced recently, new steamers will be brought here and placed on the Norfolk line, which will run in connection with the regular river steamers owned by the same company

Up to less than thirty years ago a separate line of steamers ran between Washington, Alexandria and New York. In 1859 the Cromwell Company built the steamers Mount Vernon and Monticello for this route. They were opened until the outbreak of the Civil War, when the owners turned the boats over to the government. In 1864 the steamers John Gibson, E. C. Knight and Valley City were built and placed upon the route. They ran until some time in the eighties, when the company then operating the Norfolk line took them off the line and transferred freight for New York at Norfolk,The E. C. Knight was later lost of Cape Henry, and the John Gibson and Valley City were broken up for junk.

FIFTY YEARS AFTER AT GETTYSBURG.

Interesting and impressive scenes will be witnessed by all who visit Gettysburg this week. Ex-Confederates and ex-Federals will smoke the pipe of peace on that historic battlefield. During the four years' hostilities there were times when both armies were in winter quarters when "All Quiet Along the Potomac Tonight" was sung, but the notes at that time had strings to them at no one could say positively what would take place on the morrow. It will not be so now, half a century after the carnage at Gettysburg. There are no Cemetery Ridges to be assaulted, but the grassy sward has long ago overspread the bloody field and instead of war bugles the cooings of the doves will be heard.

The great bulk of those on both sides who participated in that memorable conflict and who survived the terrible clash have long since folded their tents and are on another shore. But a small percentage have survived the scythe of the great destroyer to be present at the reunion this week.

Numbers of old Confederates from the surrounding country have passed through this city during the past few days on their way to Gettysburg. Ther locks have been whitened by the snows of many winters,and they are full of bright anticipations of the reunion of Americans who fifty years ogo were fighting each other to the death.

Imagination will do wonders for a man but it won't make him president of the United States, just because he is wearing a white suit of clothes like Woodrow's.

Those English suffragettes didn't manage to blockade the cabinet ministers, but probably threw a good scare into those pompous officials.

Automobiles may come and automobiles may go, but the faithful government mule hangs on forever.

A gentleman has written very convincingly about supporting his family of ten on fifty-five dollars per month. Despite the true ring of his argument we can't help but suspect a nigger in the wood pile.

The Virginian who was shot seven times during Pickett's charge and who is at the Gettysburg reunion this week has got the laugh on a whole lot of Yankees who have been right there on the field ever since the battle.

Two Boys Charging it Injured by The Explosion.

Newark, Del., June 30.—The explosion of a soda fountain tank in the store of Robert Allen, colored, on New London avenue, Saturday afternoon partly wrecked the building and slightly injured two boys, Nowland Howard and Roland Wilson both colored, who were recharging tank when the explosion accurred The boys heard a peculiar hissing sound and made a dash for the street but had not reached the door when he tank burst. NEAR DEATH BY SMOTHERING

Draper, N. C.—Mrs. Helen Dalton, of this place, says: "I suffered for years with pains in my left side, and would often almost smother to death.

Medicines patched me up for awhile but then I would get worse again. Finally, my husband decided he wanted me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, so he bought me a bottle and I began using it. It did me more good than all the medicines I had taken.

I have induced many of my friends to try Cardui, and they all say they have been benefited by its use. There never has been, and never will be, a medicine to compare with Cardui. I believe it is a good medicine for all womanly troubles."

For over 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings and building weak women up to health and strength.

If you are a woman, give it a fair trial. It should surely help you, as it has a million others.

SUN BLOWS UP STORE.

First Explodes Window Fireworks and Place is Wrecked.

Shenandoah, Pa., June 30. —The hot sun yesterday afternoon exploded a quantity of fireworks exposed in the window of the wholesale and retail store of R. Orkin, which in turn set fire to a large quantity in the store and the whole of the front was blown out, wrecking and setting the room afire. Mr. and Mrs. Orkin were badly burned in trying to save some of their goods.

The concussion was so great that it terrorized the neighborhood, causing people to flee from their homes. Women fainted, children screamed, creating the wildest scenes. After an hour's hard battle firemen conquered the flamase. Much damage was done.

Three men and a boy were drowned in the waters around Philadelphia yesterday, two of them while making heroic efforts to rescue companions.

THE FIRST GUN AT GETTYSBURG

(Written for the Alexandria Gazette)

"The combat deepens. On, ye brave,
Who rush to glory, or the grave!
Wave, Munich, all thy banners wave,
And charge with all thy chivalry."

The famous "Light Division," which gained its renown under its ever-gallant leader, A. P. Hill, who, like William of Delorame, "was good at need." At the battle of Gettysburg, this division was commanded by Major General Harry Heth, Gen. A. P. Hill having, after the battle of Chancellorsville been promoted to Lieut-General and placed in command of the third army corps, in which was his old division. The third corps infantry and artillery crossed the Potomac at Shepphердstown, Virginia, the last week in June, marching by the way of Hagerstown, Md., entered Pennsylvania, We moved forward leisurely, the light division of artillery followed by Co. W. J. Pegram's battalion of artillery five batteries. We had been assured that as we marched through Maryland her gallent sons would flock to our standards. Well, there was no lack of standards but the flocking did not materialize.

Here we were then on the soil of Pennsylvania 25,000 strong in as great ignorance of the whereabouts of the corps of Longstreet and Ewell as we were of the movements of the great federal army. We never so much as saw a confederate cavalryman from the time we left the shore of Virginia. It has been said that the cavalry are the eyes of an army. If that be the case the Confederate army in Pennsylvania had no eyes. Moving forward trusting to luck, nobody seemed to care. we lived well. General Lee had issued his orders that we pay for everything we took, so we did, putting a gold value on confederate money and paying when we had any, and giving a receipt when we had no funds. Nearly a week passed in this manner, until the 30th of June found us camped along the Cashtown road in and around the hamlet of that name. When we lay down to rest on that night we no more realized what was going to happen in the next three days than did any civilian slumbering in his peaceful bed far away in old Virginia.

There probably never was an army on this planet equal to the army of Northern Va.,—this time. Its morale and steadiness was unsurpassed. It had never been defeated in a pitched battle. As we marched along the highways the seasoned veterans of the Infantry sang and danced as they marched. Trusting implicitly in its leaders it was in blissful ignorance of the blunders that had already begun from the time it crossed the Potomac river and which were destined to continue until the sun went down on the bloody field of Gettysburg the 3rd of July. In the meantime the Federal army through towns and villages over bridges, across fields and woodlands was hurrying by every road towards Gettysburg. It was the business of cavalry then to inform our commander of all this but where was the cavalry?" As Kipling says "That's another story."

At sunrise on the first we move forward again in the following order. The advanced guard consisting of Col. Pegram's battalion of artillery the Fedricksburg battery, Captain Edwan A. Marye, in the lead. Next came the brigades of Archer and Davis. After an interval the rest of Heth's division. The day was lovely. It is all open country here. The ripened wheatfields stretched away on either side and the soft wind rippled the tall grain. Talking and smoking we moved along this road to Gettysburg, until somewhere between seven and eight o'clock the column was suddenly halted. In the distance ahead troops had been discovered some thought they were Longstreet's men. But a closer inspection through the glasses of our mounted officers discovered them to be a body of the enemy's cavalry. Col Pegram spoke a word to Captain Marye, and the leading gun, a 3 inch rifled piece, commanded by Sergeant H. G. Chesley and Corporal Bunnell, two experienced and veteran artillerymen was promptly unlimbered and swung around. All situations seem to have more or less of comedy. An amusing incident occured here. Close to the road on the left was a small cottage with a porch and gate. As the command to load was given, a man rushed out of the house in his shirtsleeves exclaiming, "You are not going to fire here are you?" threw up his hands, ran off the porch and disappeared behind the house. The grim cannoneers laughed as the shell was rammed home. Several rounds of shrapnel were sent among this body of Federal cavalry who quickly retreated. It seems that it was a portion of the command of General Buford, and was composed of the 8th Illinois cavalry a regiment who had distinguished themselves in Virginia by plundering the homes of aged men and defenceless women and children whose sons and brothers were away in the Southern armies. Archer's brigade now promptly deployed into line of battle on the right and Davis' on the left. The former advancing entered a body of woods and encountering the enemy in heavy force were captured almost to a man, including the general. The whole of the 3rd corps was hurried up and General Hill soon found himself heavily engaged. The battle raged over the wheatfields with varied results until General Rodes of the 2nd corps coming up with his division on the enemy's right and attacking them in flank they were driven off the field with heavy loss in killed, wounded and prisoners. It was now about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the enemy were routed and why the advance was stopped no one knew then or have found out since. But all of that is a "twice told tale."

Some of us rode down into the town that night and found it deserted by the enemy. As also was cemetery hill, many an able historian has written of all this. And it might have been all boiled down to one answer. Had Stonewall Jackson, have been there, there would have been another tale to tell. We would like to say in conclusion that having shown what command fired the first shot at the great battle. That some advanced pickets of this same 8th Illinois cavalry discerning our long column in the distance, a soldier raised his carbine and aiming towards us fired. We neither saw this or heard it. They might as well have been firing at the sun; it had no more to do with the battle than any chicken fight which happened to be going on in an adjacent barnyard. However they have built a monument on the spot it seems, and placed the names on it of all the braves who were concerned in this doughty deed. Failing however, to inscribe how fast they left when our shells began to scream.

SEEKS TERRIBL DEEATH.

Despondent Man Lays Calmly on Track to be Mangled.

Atlantic City June 30.—Discouraged by the loss of his position as superintendent of the Mt. Calvary cemetery, Pleasantville Johnathan K. Price, committed suicide yesterday by calmly lying down in front of an electric train a mile from the Pleasantville Station. His body was horribly mangled.

For several minutes before the suicide, Price conversed on various topics with Richard Shaw, an intimate friend. Without a hint of his purpose, he left Shaw as the train was seen approaching, walked forward to meet it and as it was almost upon him, lay with his back upon the rails. He waved a farewell to Shaw just before the train was upon him. Price was 40 years old and married.

a committee or board, by a vote of such committee or board, or where such appointment is by the mayor or head of a department, such removal may be by order of the mayor or head of department. In case of vacancies occuring in any municipal position so authorized to be filled, a qualified person may be appointed to fill such position for the unexpired term by the proper appointing power; and in case of vacancy in any municipal office which is elective by the people, if there be no general election during the unexpired term at which such vacancy can be legally filled, the city or town council may elect a qualified person to fill such vocancy until a qualified person can be elected by the people and shall have qualified for the next succeeding term, or when such general election does occur during the unexpired term at which such vacancy can be filled, such city or town council shall elect a qualified person to fill vacancy until a qualified person is elected to fill such vacancy at such general election and shall have qualified."

The act of February 17, 1906, does not expressly repeal section 1015-e of the Code. Does it do so by implication?

It is well settled that the repeal of a statute by implication is not favored by the courts. The presumption is always against the intention to repeal where express terms are not used. To justify the presumption of an intention to repeal one statute by another, the two statutes must be irreconcilable. If, by a fair and reasonable construction they can be reconciled, both must stand. Fulkerson V. Bristol, 95 Va., 1, 5, and authorities cited.

If members of the city council of Alexandria are municipal officers within the meaning of the act of February 17, 1906, there can be no question that the provisions of that act and the provisions of section 1015e of the Code are in irreconcilable conflict, and that section of the Code must be regarded as repealed by the act of February 17, 1906. The question, therefore, to be determined is, whether they are municipal officers within the meaning of the last named statute.

It is not easy, as was said in Burch v. Hardwick, 30 Gratt. (71 Va.), 24, 33-4, to define them (city officers or municipal officers) in all cases; but there are many such provided in the charters of many of the cities of the State. Among these are, perhaps, City engineers and surveyors, officers having superintendence and control of streets, parks, water works, gas works, hospitals, sewers, cemeteries, city inspectors, and no doubt many others well known in large cities. Their duties and functions relate exclusive to the local affairs of the city, and the city alone is interested in their conduct and administration. On the other hand, there are many officers, such as city judge, sergeant, clerk, Commonwealth's attorney, treasurer, sheriff, high constable, and the like, some of whom are recognized by the Constitution while others are not. All these are generally mentioned as city officers, and they are even so designated in the Constitution, but they are not removable by the mayor. The reason is, that while they are elected or appointed for the city and while their jurisdiction is confined to the local limits, their duties and functions, in a measure, concern the State. They are State agencies or instrumentalities, operating to some extent through the medium of city charters in the preservation however paid, they are as much State ment. However elected or appointed of the public peace and good governofficers as constables, justice of the peace and Commonwealth's attorneys whose jurisdiction is confined to particular counties. See also Mitchell v. Witt, Judge, 98 Va., 457; Smith v. Bryan, Mayor 100 Va., 199; 1 Dillon Mun. Corp. (5th ed.), sec. 97; 1 McQuillan Mun. Corp., sec. 178.

Tested by the rule laid down in the case of Burch v. Hardwicke, supra., it cannot be said that the duties and functions of a city council relate exclusively to the local affairs of the city. While many, perhaps the great body, of the powers and duties of a city council relate exclusively to the local affairs of the city and to matters in which the city alone is interested, they exercise powers and perform duties in which the public at large, or the State, is interested directly. Under the provisions of section 1038 of the Code, city councils have the power to lay off, control and keep in order streets which become State highways and belong to the public or the State. White Oak Coal Co. v. Manchester, 109 Va., 749. Their jurisdiction for certain purposes extends beyond the corporate limits. In criminal cases it extends one mile beyond the corporate limits. They have the right to erect water works outside of the city limits, and in order to protect the water from pollution and the works from injury their jurdisdiction extends five miles beyond the works; and for the purpose of carrying into effect these and other powers they can enact ordinances, and prescribe fines and other punishments for their violation. While these powers and others do not relate exclusively to the local affairs of the cities, they are in a certain sense municipal officers (Mitchell v. Witt, Judge, supra), and if there were no other legislation on the subject the broad language of the act of February 17, 1906, might be sufficient to include them. But as there is other legislation on the subject all the statutes in pari materia must be considered and harmonized if it can be done by any fair and reasonable construction. Mitchell v. Witt, supra; Fulkerson v. Bristol, supra.

If members of a city council be held to be municipal officers, within the meaning of the act of February 17, 1906, that act would be in irreconcilable conflict not only section 1015-e of the Code, but also with that portion of section 1015-a of the Code which provides, "that all elections to fill vacancies in any (city) council shall be for the unexpired term." If they are municipal officers, then under section 1033 of the Code, the mayor would have the power to suspend and remove members of the city council for that section provides that the mayor shall see that the various city officers and members of the police and fire departments, wether elected or appointed, faithfully perform their duties, and give him the power to suspend such officers and to remove them for misconduct in office or neglect of duty.

Section 1015e provides that vacancies in either branch of the council shall be filled by the branch in which the vacancy exists, but if that section has been repealed by the act of February 17, 1906, a vacancy in either branch would have to be filled by the joint action of both branches of the council; for it is clear, we think, that every vacancy which the last named act authorizes the city council to fill, must be filled by the joint action of both branches of the council where it consists of two branches.

If the members of a city council be municipal officers within the meaning of the act of February 17, 1906, then it seems to us clear that the mayor is also a municipal officer within its meaning. If this be so, then it would bring that act in irreconcilable conflict with section 1033 of the Code. That section provides that upon the death, resignation or removal of the mayor, his place shall be filled and his duties discharged by the president of the board of aldermen, or the president of the council, according as the city council has or has not two branches, until another mayor is elected and qualified. That section further provides that within ten days after such death, resignation or removal of the mayor, the corporation or hustings court shall order a special election to be held within thirty days after the order is entered to fill such vacancy, provided the unexpired term remaining after such election is as much as one year; while the act of February 17, 1906, provides that in case of a vacancy in any municipal office which is elective by the people, if there be no general election during the unexpired term at which vacancy can be legally filled, the city council may elect a qualified person to fill such vacancy until a qualified person can be elected by the people, and shall have qualified for the next succeeding term, or when such vacancy can be filled such city council elect a qualified person to fill such vacancy until a qualified person is elected to fill s ch vacancy at such general election and shall have qualified.

If the members of a city council are held not to be municipal officers, within the meaning of the act of February 17, 1906, as we think they may be, that act does not repeal section 1015-e of the Code and the other statutes referred to. By such a construction the apparently conflicting laws can be harmonized and all stand.

We are of opinion, therefore, that the trial court erred in not so holding, and in declaring that the plaintiff in error, Lambert, was not entitled to the vacancy made vacant by the death of Hubert Snowden until the end of the term for which the latter was elected. Its judgment must, therefore, be reversed, and this court will enter such judgment as it ought to have entered.

PLAYED CELLO AS LIFE EBBED.

Old Musician Commits Suicide by Inhaling Gas.

New York, June 30.—As he was playing "Nearer, My God to Thee," Henry J. Noop, an old musician, who formerly played with the Philharmonic Orchestra on the cello, was inhaling gas yesterday alone in his little house in the Bronx. The old man had turned on all the burners in the kitchen. He was dead when neighbors smelled gas and got a policeman.

Mr. Noop was 69 years old and had not found it as easy as in his youth to get engagements as a player of the cello. Neighbors said too that when his daughter married against his will some time ago the old man got a shock from which he did not easily recover.
